

This is a detailed polar map of Antarctica, centered on the South Pole (Pôle Sud). The map shows the continent of Antarctica and its surrounding oceans: the Atlantic Ocean (Océan Atlantique) to the west, the Indian Ocean (Océan Indien) to the east, and the Southern Ocean (Océan Austral) to the south. The map includes latitude and longitude lines, with the Antarctic Circle (Cercle polaire antarctique) clearly marked. Numerous research stations and bases are indicated with flags and names, including Amundsen-Scott, McMurdo, and various French stations like Dumont d'Urville and Concordia. The map also shows the Antarctic Peninsula, the Weddell Sea, the Ross Sea, and the Drake Passage. The map is credited to IPEV.
